

WAR ENDS AUGUST 25TH.

WITH AGREEMENT BETWEEN UNITED STATES AND GERMANY

By Which United States Obtains all Rights Under the Treaty of Versailles Which it Refused to Sign.

On August 25, Thursday of last week, United States and Germany signed an agreement or treaty ending the war and giving United States all the rights guaranteed by the Treaty of Versailles, which this government refused to sign.

After the prolonged negotiations at Paris in 1918 the United States became a signatory to the Treaty of Versailles making peace between Germany and the allied and associated Powers, but the failure of the United States to ratify this pact left the two nations still nominally at war.

To end this condition the Porter-Knox resolution was passed by Congress and signed by President Harding on July 2 last, declaring terminating the state of war with Germany entered into by the United States on April 6, 1917—four years and nearly five months ago.

The new agreement of Aug. 25 is as follows:

"The United States of America and Germany:

"Considering that the United States acting in conjunction with its co-belligerents, entered into an armistice with Germany on November 11, 1918, in order that a treaty of peace might be concluded:

"Considering that the Treaty of Versailles was signed on June 28, 1918, and came into force according to the terms of its Article 440, but has not been ratified by the United States:

"Considering that the Congress of the United States passed a joint resolution, approved by the President July 2, 1921, which reads in part as follows:

"Resolved, by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled, That the state of war declared to exist between the Imperial German Government and the United States of America by the joint resolution of Congress approved April 6, 1917, is hereby declared at an end.

"Section 2. That in making this declaration, and as a part of it, there are expressly reserved to the United States of America, and its nationals, any and all rights, privileges, indemnities, reparations or advantages, together with the right to enforce the same, to which it or they have become entitled under the terms of the armistice signed November 11, 1918, or any extensions or modifications thereof; or which were acquired by or are in the possession of the United States of America by reason of its participation in the war or to which its nationals have thereby become rightfully entitled; or which, under the Treaty of Versailles, have been stipulated for its or their benefit; or to which it is entitled as one of the principal allied and associated Powers; or to which it is entitled by virtue of any act or acts of Congress or otherwise.

"Section 5.—All property of the Imperial German Government, or its successor or successors, and of all German Nationals which was on April 6, 1917, in or has since that date come into the possession or under control of, or has been the subject of a demand by the United States of America or of any of its officers, agents, or employees of any source or by any agency whatsoever, and all property of the Imperial and Royal Austro-Hungarian Government, or its successor or successors, and of all Austro-Hungarian Nationals which was on December 7, 1917, in or has since that date come into the possession or under control of, or has been the subject of a demand by the United States of America or of any of its officers, agents, or employees, from any source or by any agency whatsoever, shall be retained by the United States of America and no disposition thereof made, except as shall have been heretofore or specifically hereafter shall be provided by law, until such time as the Imperial German Government and the Imperial and Royal Austro-Hungarian Government, or their successor or successors, shall have respectively made suitable provision for the satisfaction of all claims against said Governments, respectively, of all persons, whosoever domiciled, who owe permanent allegiance to the United States of America and who have suffered through the acts of the Imperial German government, or its agents, or the Imperial and Royal Austro-Hungarian Government, or its agents, since July 31, 1914, loss, damage or injury to their persons or property, directly or indirectly, whether through the ownership of shares of stock in German, Austro-Hungarian, American or other corporations, or in consequence of hostilities or of any operations of war, or otherwise, and also shall have granted to persons owing permanent allegiance to the United States of America, most favored-nation treatment, whether the same be national or otherwise, in all matters affecting residence, business, profession, trade, navigation, commerce and industrial property rights, and until the Imperial German Government and the Imperial and Royal Austro-Hungarian Government, or their successor or successors, shall have respectively confirmed to the United States of America all fines, forfeitures, penalties, and seizures imposed or made by the United States of America during the war, whether in respect to the property of the Imperial German Government or German Nationals or the Imperial and Royal Austro-Hungarian Government or Austro-Hungarian Nationals, and shall have waived any and all pecuniary claims against the United States of America."

"Being desirous of restoring the friendly relations existing between the two nations prior to the outbreak of war;

"Have for that purpose appointed their plenipotentiaries;

"The resident of the United States of America, Ellis Loring Dresel, Commissioner of the United States of America to Germany,

And

"The resident of the German Empire, Dr. Friedrich Rosen, Minister for Foreign Affairs,

"Who, having communicated their full powers, found to be in good and due form, have agreed as follows:

Article I

"Germany undertakes to accord to the United States, and the United States shall have and enjoy, all the rights, privileges, indemnities, reparations, or advantages specified in the aforesaid joint resolution of the Congress of the United States of July 2, 1921, including all the rights and advantages stipulated for the benefit of the United States in the Treaty of Versailles which the United States shall fully enjoy notwithstanding the fact that such treaty has not been ratified by the United States Senate.

Article II

"With a view to defining more particularly the obligations of Germany under the foregoing article with respect to certain provisions in the Treaty of Versailles, it is understood and agreed between the high contracting parties:

"First. That the rights and advantages stipulated in that treaty for the benefit of the United States, which it is intended the United States shall have and enjoy, are those defined in Section 1 of Part 4 and Parts 5, 6, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 14 and 15. The United States, in availing itself of the rights and advantages stipulated in the provisions of that treaty mentioned in this paragraph, will do so in a manner consistent with the rights accorded to Germany under provisions.

"Second. That the United States shall not be bound by the provision of Part 1 of that treaty, nor by any provisions of that treaty including those mentioned in paragraph (1) of this article, which relate to the covenant of the League of Nations, nor shall the United States be bound by any action taken by the League of Nations, or by the Council or by the Assembly thereof, unless the United States shall expressly give its assent to such action.

"Third. That the United States assumes no obligations under or with respect to the provisions of Part 2, Part 3, Sections 2 to 8 inclusive of Part 4, and Part 13 of that treaty.

"Fourth. That, while the United States is privileged to participate in the Reparation Commission, according to the terms of Part 8 of that treaty, and in any other commission established under the treaty or under any agreement supplemental thereto, the United States is not bound to participate in any such commission unless it shall elect to do so.

"Fifth. That the periods of time to which reference is made in Article 440 of the Treaty of Versailles, shall run, with respect to any act or election on the part of the United States, from the date of the coming into force of the present treaty.

Article III

"The present treaty shall be ratified in accordance with the constitutional forms of the high contracting parties and shall take effect immediately on the exchange of ratifications which shall take place as soon as possible at Berlin.

"In witness whereof, the respective plenipotentiaries have signed this treaty and have hereunto affixed their seals.

"Done in duplicate in Berlin, this twenty-fifth day of August, nineteen twenty-one."

The New York Times rightly calls it a strange treaty, by which we forfeit our moral position among nations.

"No pomp, no ceremony, no speech-making marked the signing of the separate treaty of peace between Germany and the United States. The plenipotentiaries wrote their names and got out as quickly as possible. That was seemingly, for it would have been most unseemly to invoke the usual formalities and dignities upon the conclusion of a pact that is not at all the usual thing in treaties, being of so uncommon a nature that it would be safe to pronounce it unique. This treaty of itself has no life. It is not viable. Apart from the Porter-Knox resolution and the Treaty of Versailles it could not stand for an instant. In fact, its sole independent affirmation is that of the desire to restore friendly relations between the two countries. Beyond that, it is a parasitic growth upon the Treaty of Versailles.

"It will serve its one primary purpose, that of establishing peace, and should, therefore, be ratified by the Senate. If its assertion of rights and benefits under the rejected Treaty of Versailles is valid, further benefits will accrue under it, such as the common

HOFFMAN ORPHANAGE DAY

THREE NEW BUILDINGS DEDICATED ON 11TH ANNIVERSARY

Emmanuel Cottage—Zion Cottage and Maryland Classis School House.

On Thursday, August 23, the most successful anniversary ever held took place at the George W. and Agnes Hoffman Orphanage in Mt. Joy township, three new buildings were dedicated. A crowd of 3000 persons attended the anniversary, about 700 persons were fed and the receipts of the day exceeded $1600.

The exercises began at 1:30 and concluded at 3:30. The program consisted of recitations and drills by the children and an address by Hon. W. Rush Gillan of Chambersburg, President Judge of Franklin County, who praised the magnificence of the original gift of the donors of the farm and their vision of the good it will bring to the future generations.

After the general program was concluded the assemblage went to Emmanuel's cottage, where the Rev. Dr. Abner S. DeChant, pastor of Emmanuel's church, Hanover, dedicated the building. Following this Zion cottage was dedicated by Rev. Oliver S. Hartman, York, president of the classis and the Maryland classis school house, by Rev. Henry L. G. Kieffer, Frederick, president of Maryland Classis.

700 guests were fed at the dinner exhausting all supplies and no supper could be served. A bazaar, consisting of articles donated to the institution, comprising principally fancy work, was held before dinner, the proceeds of which added very materially to the receipts of the day, which exceeded $1,600. This is for beautifying the grounds and not including a gift of $2,000 by William H. Fisher, Zion church, Chambersburg.

The affairs of the Orphanage are in a most flourishing condition, everything being paid to date, due to the excellent support of the different classes of the synod. Plans have been formulated for the erection of additional buildings as needed. There are now 36 children at the home, and in September this number will be greatly augmented by new arrivals. The boys outnumber the girls by two to one. The children have no chapel on the grounds, attending services at St. James church, nearby. The institution was chartered on January 10, 1910, and is the property of the Synod of the Reformed Church.

The three new buildings Emmanuel cottage, erected by Emmanuel church, Hanover; Zion cottage, erected by Zion classis, and Maryland classis school house, given to the Orphanage by Maryland classis, in commemoration of the 100th anniversary of that body have cost $65,000, and each has been finished ready for occupancy. The structures are of brick, and modern in every detail. In addition to these buildings a sanitary sewage disposal plant has been built at a cost of $4,300, and is already in use.

Two of the children Marie Matthias graduated on March 10 and Robert B. Houser on June 25. Five children, three boys and two girls were added to the Orphanage during the year.

The officers and directors of the Orphanage are as follows: President, Rev. Abner S. DeChant, D.D., Hanover; Vice President, Rev. Francis S. Lindaman, D.D., Littlestown; Treasurer, Rev. Samuel H. Stein, York; Secretary, John L. Gerber, York; Directors, Rev. Aaron M. Gluck, Rev. Marsby J. Roth, D.D., Oscar D. Gilbert, Harry M. Hartman, M.D., George M. Conover, Daniel A. Stickell, William H. ## ARENDTSVILLE.

Rev. T. C. Hesson will hold Holy Communion service in the Reformed Church in this place on Sunday morning at 10 A. M. Sept. 4th.

Robert Carey took up his potatoes and got 2 1/2 bushels; from the same old, became ill while engaged at his work in the graveyard. He walked to an obscure corner of the cemetery and laid down under a tree and seemingly fell asleep. A short time later Abraham Weigle and his brother said to the stone cutter, "How do you feel?" Receiving no reply they knew that Mr. Wolf was very ill and subsequently summoned Dr. J. H. Hildebrand from Biglerville. Upon his arrival at the cemetery Dr. Hildebrand pronounced the man dead. The body was then taken to York Springs. He is survived by his wife and these sons and daughters: Mrs. Esther Cockley of Biglerville; Mrs. L. A. Gardner of Montana; Charles Wolf of Arizona; Emory Wolf of Harrisburg; and Edgar Wolf, of York Springs.

Charles Raganow and wife, of Philadelphia, are guests in the home of Mrs. David Nary.

The heavy shower of rain we had last Monday noon and another on Wednesday evening will about finish out the early planted corn that bids fair for a good crop.

firmation of our rights in the Island of Yap, and the right to participate in the work of the Reparations Commission, should we so desire. But it is a formless and incomplete instrument; it must be followed by the formal treaty of commerce and amity negotiated in the usual manner and containing a multitude of provisions not inserted in the agreement signed in Berlin.

"It is the manner in which these things are done that Americans will find humiliating. The Senate rejected the Treaty of Versailles after pouring out upon it and upon the Americans who assisted in making it floods of abuse in a contest prolonged for many months. Yet now we have the audacity to assert an unpaired title to benefits, privileges and rights under that Treaty, all the benefits and rights we could have secured by ratification, while at the same time expressly repudiating and disclaiming any obligation we should have assumed had we accepted the Treaty. The burdens and duties—they are the affair of the European nations. We ask nothing but the benefits. We retain the demand for the disarmament of Germany, under Part V. of the Treaty, but if Germany should not choose to disarm we should leave it to her European neighbors to enforce the demand. Whatever might be inconvenient or troublesome or costly, we put by as no concern of ours, but we reserve as within our assured rights all that we feel to be desirable and of advantage.

"It is unlikely that the allied nations will interpose any objection to the execution of this treaty. But almost certainly they would do that were we a weaker nation, were they less dependent upon us. They might easily set up the doctrine often referred to that Germany's disposable assets were distributed to the beneficiaries under the Treaty of Versailles and that we came too late. In part we meet that assertion by declaring that we derive our rights from the victory, not from the Treaty. Now we specifically set up claims under the Treaty. We must expect sneers and ridicule, hard enough to bear, but not much beyond. The complacent belief in Washington that we obtain everything we might have obtained by ratifying the Treaty is shockingly false and hollow. The material things we retain, but not in a way to be proud of, while we forfeit altogether our moral position, our title to leadership among nations."

—Miss Ruth Smith, South Washington street, has returned from a week's visit with friends in Harrisburg.

Bones for the Tuberculous.

Bones as a diet for human beings may sound rather strange, but in cases of tuberculosis Doctor Berthier of Paris has found them highly beneficial. It is the spongy or cancellous parts of real bones that he uses. These are about one-half ossein, which is laden with phosphates and carbonates of lime, these salts being much needed by tuberculous persons, who always suffer from decalcification.

Doctor Berthier describes in a bulletin of the Academie de Medicine how he prepares the bones. He selects the short, spongy bones, splits them, boils them with vegetables, salt and a piece of meat for almost six hours and then lets his patients pick out with their forks as much of the soft bony matter as they can.

Another benefit derived from the bones is that they help to prevent decay of the teeth.

Glass-Decorating Old Art.

The art of glass decorating is not a modern Bohemian accomplishment. It thrived in the seventeenth century. The Roman cathedral of Prague, in 1726, boasted two windows which were decorated with Old and New Testament scenes. Decorative windows soon became a favorite form of church ornamentation. The churches of the Czechs possessed many high and wide windows which were brightly and artistically decorated. Ascent Sylvius who later became Pope Pius II, observed. The curriculum of the division of technical arts of the University of Prague included courses in painting wood carving and glass ornamentation. No degree was conferred on a student unless he could exhibit sufficient aptitude as a "glass man" or quality of "glasswork."

Secret of Sealed Chamber.

A bequest to Londoners of 3,000 years hence, has been buried beneath the foundations of the giant Bush Terminal building at Aldrich, London, England. This consists of a secret chamber in which Mr. Bush proposes to place some of our present day implements, which may show posterity what kind of occupations we followed. The problem at present is what to conceal. Shall it be a bottle of pickles, a Bradshaw, a razor, or a reel of cotton?

Calling at the farm of Geo. Bair, Union township, one day recently, two young men approached Mr. Bair by stating that they understood his farm was for sale, which Mr. Bair denied. During the conversation one of the men told Miss Maggie Bair, that she was suffering from cataract. She admitted that her eyes were giving her some trouble. He then took a vial from his pocket, stating that the medicine therein cost $1000 an ounce. He placed a drop of it in the eye and with his handkerchief wiped over the eye. When he showed Miss Maggie and her brother the handkerchief there was a small white skum on, which the chap claimed was the cataract. He then handed a paper to Miss Maggie to read, and she thought she could see plainer. He wrote what he called a prescription and told them it would cost $125. He finally dropped to $75. Upon presentation of the check at the Littlestown National Bank, W. R. Jones, the cashier, refused to cash it without identification. The young man became indignant and when Mr. Jones secured a telephone directory for the purpose of communicating with Mr. Bair the young man grabbed the check and left the bank.

A Grateful Letter.

It is in trying conditions like that related below by Mrs. Geo. L. North, of Naples, N. Y., that proves the worth of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy. "Two years ago last summer," she says, "our little boy had dysentery. At that time we were living in the country eight miles from a doctor. Our son was taken ill suddenly and was about the sickest child I ever saw. He was in terrible pain all the time and passed from one convulsion into another. I sent my husband for the doctor and after he was gone thought of a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy in the cupboard. I gave him some of it and he began to improve at once. By the time the doctor arrived he was out of danger." People's Drug Store.

quickly with a good washing machine. Of course we have

Hand Washers, all at very moderate prices. And all are
